LARGE WHITE SQUARE TRANSLUCENT

Square Hole Series

Product Description

Large White Square Translucent is a laminated textile glass produced from a more loosely woven white textile that is chemically perforated with a grid of ten-millimeter square openings before lamination. The open weave increases translucency while preserving the geometric clarity of the square grid. From a distance, the surface reads as light and architectural, defined by a disciplined pattern of openings. As one approaches, the textile structure becomes visible through fine fibers and subtle irregularities embedded within the laminate. The softer weave diffuses light more gently than the denser version, creating a brighter and more atmospheric spatial effect. Large White Square Translucent balances geometric order with increased light transmission. The result is a surface that introduces openness and visual continuity while maintaining the structured rhythm of the perforated textile grid.
